ECLM Course Description:
This course is designed to give teacher candidates a broad overview of classroom leadership and management through an equity lens. It includes research, theories, and applications in practice, in view of creating and sustaining positive and productive learning environments for all students. Teacher candidates will explore their own values and beliefs, observe and reflect on other teachers’ tactics, learn about a variety of current and past methodologies of leadership and management, and explore working with diverse students. Finally, each candidate will begin to develop an individual approach to building an inclusive, productive and well-structured learning environment.

Essential Question: “How can I best lead and manage my classroom to support all my students in their learning?”

Course Objectives

Theoretical Understanding
Teacher candidates will read and reflect on theories and practices of CLM, to both understand the connections between classroom structures, curriculum, and strategies for managing challenging students; as well as how to create and sustain conditions that support teaching and learning in diverse elementary classrooms.

Personal Understanding
Teacher candidates will investigate who they are as teachers and how their individuality affects their views about students, management plans, and disciplinary responses. They will develop an understanding of the complex relationship between their identity and their classroom interactions, and the impact this has on their effectiveness in managing their classroom, as well as on their ideas for: classroom culture, classroom community, and classroom leadership.

Practical Strategies
Teacher candidates will consider, practice, and reflect on a variety of strategies and techniques that may facilitate effective classroom management. They will recognize that leading and managing students is a complex process that cannot be reduced to a simplistic list of techniques.

Building Community
Teacher candidates will understand that the classroom is a community of learners and will consider strategies that, from day one, assist in the development of that sense of community.

Equitable Outcomes
Teacher candidates will examine classroom leadership through an equity lens to consider how students of different racial, cultural, linguistic, and economic backgrounds may experience the conditions we create for teaching and learning.
ETA! Course Description:
Integrating theatre arts into the classroom opens up new vistas for students to make greater and deeper meanings of core curriculum. Teacher candidates will experience interactive, collaborative exercises, as well as consider how this process promotes critical thinking, inquiry, and creativity in their students. Finally, candidates will work in small groups to develop a presentation that shows the deeper “meaning-making” that can happen through the theatre arts.

Essential Question: “How can I best integrate the Performing Arts in my classroom, to spark creativity, enhance equity and encourage all my students to go deeper into core curriculum subject matter?”

Objectives:
Theoretical Understanding
Teacher candidates will read and reflect on theories and practices for teaching children through the performing arts, to develop a greater understanding of why and how to create and sustain such practices in the classroom.

Personal Understanding
Teacher candidates will explore the performing arts as both learners and teachers, in order to develop new ways of thinking about the importance of arts praxis in the elementary classroom for developing deeper understandings of academic subjects, as well as classroom culture and community.

Practical Strategies
Teacher candidates will engage in a variety of exercises, techniques, strategies, and discussions in order to facilitate understanding of how to construct a simple, performing arts-integrated lesson; and involve and support their students in learning through the performing arts.

Building Community
Teacher candidates will investigate how the performing arts can help to build a classroom community, through shared experiences in observation, concentration, confidence, focus, and building friendships.

Equitable Outcomes
Teacher candidates will examine the performing arts in the elementary classroom through an equity lens to consider how students of different racial, cultural, linguistic, and economic backgrounds can be supported academically, cognitively, creatively, physically, and social-emotionally, in order to create more inclusive and equitable classroom communities.

Readings:
(NOTE: Some of these will be optional, others will be assigned in groups or read in class.)

Culturally Responsive Classroom Management Strategies. Published by the Technical Assistance Center on Disproportionality (TACD) for the Metropolitan Center for Urban Education.

Assessment and Grading:

Students are expected to attend all classes, participate actively, and submit all assignments. Each assignment includes instructions that describe the standards and expectations. Comments will be given on each assignment and it will be made clear whether the standard achieved is satisfactory. Students may re-do assignments from 244E (Summer) that are not satisfactory, although they must be submitted by the final date of the course to avoid an incomplete. All assignments must be completed by the due date unless prior arrangements have been made. The Final Assignment may not be rewritten.

Assignments

All written assignments must be submitted electronically by midnight on the day the assignment is due. The title of the file should begin with your last name.

244E - Interaction Reflection: (30%) This reflection may be in the form of a paper OR a specified alternative (please see the instructions for the Interaction Reflection on Canvas) due by midnight on Monday, July 17, 2017

Community Paper: (40%) (please see the instructions for the Community Reflection on Canvas). The Community Paper is due by midnight on Monday, July 24, 2017.

Completed Readings and Participation: (30%) This will reflect attendance, punctuality to class and contributions to class discussions and activities. For ECLM: Punctuality with assignments. For ETAI: Willingness to contribute to class exercises.

244F

- Motivation Paper: (20%) Due Tuesday, August 15, 2017 (please see Motivation Paper instructions posted on Canvas).

- Classroom Leadership and Management Plan: (40%) This is a culmination of the ECLM course, and requires quite a bit of both reflection and time to complete. In consideration of that, there are several sections of the final plan that are due in draft form earlier. Please note that these draft due dates are a way to help you balance the workload. They are not graded, and will be evaluated only when they are in the completed final Plan. Completion dates for these sections are:
  - Creating an Effective Learning Environment and Building Community: Due Tuesday, August 22, 2017.
  - Classroom Expectations, Rules and Procedures due Tuesday, August 29, 2017.
  - Teaching Philosophy and Reflections due Tuesday, September 5, 2017.
  - Complete draft to share with a partner for feedback due Tuesday, September 12, 2017

  NOTE: The instructions for each of these sections as well as an example are posted on Canvas, under CLM Plan Final.

  Final completed Leadership and Management Plan is due Tuesday, September 19, 2017.

- Elementary Theatre Arts Integration Presentation: (20%) This is a group project, for which you will be given specific instructions and a rubric in class.

- Completed Readings and Participation: (20%) Participation will reflect attendance, punctuality to class and contributions to class discussions and activities. For ETAI: Willingness to contribute to class exercises.

Stanford University Honor Code

Please note the standards of Stanford's Honor Code, the University's statement on academic integrity written by students in 1921. The Honor Code articulates University expectations of students and faculty in establishing and maintaining the highest standards in academic work.
