Course Description

This is the fourth and final course in the STEP Seminar series. This seminar class will build upon the summer experience of exploring Race, Intersectionality and Identity in schools by going deeper into the intersection of culture, identity and community in diverse Bay Area schools. This seminar will elevate the voices, cultures and lived experiences of a diverse range of Bay Area educators, activists and community leaders to provide STEP teacher candidates with a practical lens into the ways in which culture and identity intersect with theory and teaching praxis. We will continue to critically examine how our own identities and positionality relate to our work with students and families. Using the Bay Area as a case-study, this introductory experience will provide a foundation to your life-long journey of being an antiracist educator wherever you go.

Furthermore, our spring seminar will support your edTPA work through collaboration and sharing. We will use that process to learn from each other, and ultimately submit our edTPA portfolios.

During this quarter you will launch or continue your independent student teaching, compile your Teaching Portfolios, and complete your STEP year Summary Reflections.
As in earlier quarters, Seminar provides a forum for Supervisors to meet with candidates in small groups. The curriculum for these meetings will be determined by the members of each group, based on the interests and needs they identify.

Course Essential Questions

➔ How do we embrace and lift up the power of intergenerational knowledge, wisdom and cultural assets of historically marginalized communities, students, and families?

➔ How can we further evolve as culturally sustaining and community oriented practitioners through continued learning about cultural history, intersectional identity and community contexts?

Assignments

The assignments for this course include:

- Completion of fieldwork
- A STEP Summary Reflection
  - A focus on culture, identity and community of the school/district in which teacher candidates will launch their teachers careers
- A Teaching Portfolio, which is a collection of your key assignments from this year

The assignments are described in more detail in Canvas.

Clinical work and Supervisory:

- We work with our school partners to determine the scope and shape of student teaching each quarter. We rely on our quarterly assessments from the Cooperating Teacher(s) and the University Supervisor to ensure that you develop an understanding of the California Standards for the Teaching Profession (CSTPs) and ability to reflect upon your performance in light of those standards (Standard 6).
- You will begin your year long school placement in August and you will be observed at least four times each quarter.
- You are expected to complete all paperwork related to the student teaching placement in a timely manner. This includes documents such as contracts, induction agreements, and assessments from Cooperating Teacher(s), and your University Supervisor.

Honor Code

All Stanford students are expected to follow the Stanford Honor Code and Fundamental Standard, as noted in the STEP Handbook and Stanford Student Guide. http://www.stanford.edu/dept/vpsa/judicialaffairs/about/welcome.htm
